Finalists:

Naval Air Station,

North Island, Calif.

Naval Station,

Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico

The Carlson Award was established in 1989 by Navy Lodge/NEXCOM to recognize excellence within the Navy Lodge Program. The award is named for Edward E. Carlson, who served on the Secretary of the Navy's Exchange System Advisory Committee from 1965 to 1989. During his tenure, Carlson provided outstanding advice and professional guidance concerning the effective operation of Navy Lodges. During his career, Carlson was the president of Westin Hotels and president and chief executive officer of United Airlines.

Forty-one Navy Lodge locations worldwide provide quality, affordable lodging to Navy, other military and Department of Defense personnel who are relocating, on temporary duty or on vacation. To receive a copy of the Navy Lodge directory or to make reservations, call 1-800-NAVY-INN. For more information, visit our website at www.navy-nex.com/lodge.

Innovative contract saves Navy millions

NAVICP Public Affairs - With the recent signing of a multi-million-dollar, multiplatform Naval aircraft tires contract to with Michelin Aircraft Tires Corporation, Greenville, S.C., the Naval Inventory Control Point Philadelphia celebrated another Performance Based Logistics (PBL) contract milestone.

Aircraft platforms on this contract include the F-14, V-22, H-60, AV8B, TA-4, P-3, S-3, F/A-18, EA6B, H-46, T-2, H-53, E-2, C-2, and H-3. Twenty-three different types of tires are in this contract.

The agreement has a five-year base, with an estimated value

Retirement in NAVSUP...

RADM Keith W. Lippert, the Commander of the Naval Supply Systems Command, presents LT Chuck Sexton, SC, USN, of the NAVSUP Food Service Division with his retirement certificate, above, following 21 years of service. Sexton received the Navy Commendation Medal (Fourth Award), during the recent ceremony.

NAVSUP Sailor of the Year pays a visit...

Storekeeper 1st Class (Seabee Combat Warfare) Melinda K. Garcia, USN, left, of the Fleet and Industrial Supply Center, San Diego, Calif., was recently recognized as the Naval Supply Systems Command's Sailor of the Year for 2001. She recently visited central Pennsylvania and RADM Keith Lippert, Commander, Naval Supply Systems Command, presented her with a plaque commemorating her selection.

Navy Marine Corps Relief

Navy-Marine Corps Relief - - SETTING RECORDS

The 2001 Central Pennsylvania Navy-Marine Corps Relief Fund Drive recently held two more raffle drawings, one on May 10 and another May 17.

CAPT Allan Banghart, Commanding Officer of the Naval Ammunition Logistics Center, drew the winning tickets during the drawing May 10. The NALC is this year's lead activity for the Central Pennsylvania Navy-Marine Corps Relief Drive.

Also, May 17th, RDML Bill Maguire, the Vice Commander of the Naval Supply Systems Command, drew five more winners, including the grand-prize winner, from the raffle barrel before a large gathering of hopeful personnel from area commands.

The final drawing was for this year's grand prize, a choice of one of four different automobiles (Pontiac Grand AM, Mazda Protégé, Hyundai Elantra, and GMC Sonoma P/U), or a dealer's credit to be applied against an eligible model of the winner's choosing. Bob Powers, from the NAVICP, was this year's grand-prize winner.

The following prizes were won at the NMCRS raffle drawing held May 10:

ITT Movie Tickets- Barb Neusbäum, from NAVSEALOGCEN,

$25 Red Lobster Gift Card- T.S. Nazay, FMSO,

$50 Home Depot Gift Card- Maria Calderon, from Team Clean Service,

$25 Wal-Mart Shopping Card- Mel Raudabaugh, FMSO,

$50 Lowe's Gift Card- Pamela Szymczak, from Mechanicsburg,

$25 Bob Evans Gift Certificate- Shirley Haines, FMSO,

$25 Ruby Tuesday Gift Certificate- Mark Estes, FMSO, $25 Barnes and Noble Gift Card- Kevin Geist, from FMSO, Panasonic DVD Player - Theresa Yost, from NALC.

In addition to the car, the following prizes were won at the NMCRS drawing May 17:

ITT Movie Tickets - David Lindberg, from FMSO,

$25 Outback Steakhouse Gift Certificate - John R. Bobb, from York Springs,

$25 Wal-Mart Shopping Card - Steve Brookens, from NAVSEALOGCEN,

$50 Home Depot Gift Card - Mary Lutz, from NALC.

The May 17 drawing marked the conclusion of this year's Navy-Marine Corps Relief Fund Drive. LCDR Mike Taylor, this year's drive coordinator, and his Executive Committee extend a sincere thanks to all volunteers and contributors.

This year's fund drive broke many records with over $1,600 in cash donations and over $11,400 in active duty allotments. Although almost a record, this year's drive broke over $30,000 in gross proceeds. Currently, with all expenses received to date, we are expecting over $25,000 net proceeds toward the Central Pennsylvania Region's donations for NMCR - a new all-time record, according to Taylor.

The NMCR Golf Tournament scheduled for June 8-9th will add to this year's record-breaking donations.

"Once again, the Navy-Marine Corps community in this region has demonstrated unsurpassed generosity and selflessness," Taylor said. "Thanks to all of you, the real winners are the many Sailors and Marines who will now have emergency assistance available to them, thanks to the outstanding support provided by the Navy-Marine Corps Relief Society, and made possible by each of you."

Naval Ammunition Logistics Center

Senior Policy Analyst for Ordnance Logistics retires

NALC Public Affairs — Linda Mauck, the Naval Supply Systems Command's senior policy analyst for ordnance logistics, will end a 35-year career June 2. Her service has been marked by many awards.

She executes her responsibilities as the Naval Ammunition Logistics Center's Policy Stockpile Assessment Director in Indian Head, Md.

As part of the NAVSUP community, she has been responsible for many initiatives, including the development of NAVSUP's definitive ordnance policy publication, the P-724, "Conventional Ordnance Stockpile Management Policies and Procedures."

Among Mrs. Mauck's other accomplishments is the Global Naval Ordnance Positioning Plan tool set, a one-of-a-kind DoD capability that is a powerful decision support tool that dramatically improves America's ability to plan for and execute combat operations.

Mauck began her federal career as a GS-3 with the Defense Communication Agency in 1965 and then went to the Naval Air Systems Command (1972-1984), where she progressed to Supervisory Requirements/Budgetary Officer (GS-13).

Her next position as Supervisory Requirements Officer (GS-14), Non-Nuclear Conventional Ordnance Branch Head was with Deputy Chief of Naval Operations (Logistics), N411 (1984-1993) in the Ordnance Programs and Policy Directorate, where she was promoted to Supervisory Requirements Officer (GM-15), Ordnance Policy and Programs Division Head.

Her career then took her to the Naval Sea Systems Command (1993-1999), with the Naval Ordnance Center, Operational Logistics Directorate (N4), Stockpile Assessment Division Head (N41). As Acting Technical Director, she was instrumental for the organizational structure and establishment of the Navy's ordnance Inventory Management and Systems Division (IMSD) in March 1998, when IMSD's unique new role was formalized as the Navy's single, integrated point of ordnance logistics management and during which time the organization was identified as a candidate for an A-76 review.

Her service continued as Supervisory Logistics Management Specialist, (GS-15), for the Naval Ammunition Logistics Center (1999-2001), when NALC was established in October 1999 under NAVSUP.

Mauck has received the Navy Superior Civilian Service Award as well as many Special Act Awards, Outstanding Performance Awards, and a Meritorious Service Award.

Hosted by
Naval Supply
Systems Command

Scenes from Armed Forces Day...

Activities during Armed Forces Day Open House on the Naval Support Activity included a flyover by A-10s from the 111th Fighter Wing of the PA Air National Guard and a concert by the Cumberland Valley H.S. Jazz Band. There were train rides and displays, along with an exhibit of antique cars. Kids had an opportunity to play pilot and see inside a variety of helicopters, including an AH-1 Cobra from the Army National Guard and a Navy H-46 from Norfolk, Va. RADM Keith W. Lippert, the Commander of the Naval Supply Systems Command, gave remarks during the opening ceremonies.

of $67.4 million, and two five-year options valued at $92.9 million and $101.1 million respectively. If all options are exercised, it is estimated that this PBL contract will save the Navy over $48.8 million over the life of the contract. The savings estimate came from the Business Case Analysis that was coordinated by NAVICP's Supply Chain Solutions Office.

"This marks the beginning of a brave new world of doing business," said RDML Michael Finley, NAVICP Commander, during a previous PBL contract signing ceremony in Philadelphia.

Through this innovative contract, Michelin will serve as the single logistics integrator providing one touch support and commercial-like service for naval aircraft tires.

In addition, the contract calls for Michelin to meet a requisition fill-rate of 95 percent and to deliver tires within the United States two days after electronic requisition receipt.

NALC hosts Ordnance Information System Configuration Control Board

NALC Public Affairs - The Naval Ammunition Logistics Center (NALC) hosted the Ordnance Information System (OIS) Configuration Control Board (CCB) April 17-19 at Mechanicsburg.

Over 60 ordnance managers from the Navy and Marine Corps spent the three days participating in ordnance logistics discussions. Among the key topics covered were system updates, requirement definition, vertical integration efforts, fleet training, and ordnance logistics initiatives.

The OIS integrates 18 separate applications. These applications, used by both the Navy and Marine Corps, support approximately 25 functional areas such as asset management, accountability, visibility, storage, and pre-positioning planning.

The CCB is composed of key members from the Naval Ordnance Community. Representatives from this group serve as voting members. The CCB receives recommendations to its OIS from all of its global users and votes to implement and prioritize these user-requested enhancements. Prioritization is based on safety, data integrity, reporting/asset visibility, as well as expected cost savings. The CCB is chartered by OPNAV N41 and chaired by Dr. Lambros P. Tzerefos, Ordnance, Chief Information Officer.

For more information, contact Dr. Lambros P. Tzerefos, Ordnance, Chief Information Officer, at tzerefoslp@nalc.navy.mil.

Navy tests online program for arranging household goods moves

FISC San Diego Public Affairs-The Fleet and Industrial Supply Center San Diego, Calif., recently began live testing of a new program to help Sailors arrange their household goods moves online from home, work or anywhere they have Internet access.

The program, called SMARTWebMove, is a user-friendly, web-based program that allows eligible active-duty Navy service members and their families to arrange routine basic moves from San Diego to a new duty station or homeport within the continental United States.

Earlier this year, 30 volunteers demonstrated the system by simulating moves based on mock orders. CAPT Robert Ritchie, FISC San Diego's executive officer, was among the volunteers. "This is a super program," said Ritchie. "I had the opportunity to simulate several moves, and I'm extremely excited at the prospect of having this capability online."

Following successful testing, the Navy plans to launch SMARTWebMove in San Diego next month.

Memorial Day Message, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff

Since 1868, Americans have celebrated Memorial Day to honor those who fought and died to preserve our freedom. We set aside one day each year to pause and reflect on the debt of gratitude we owe to the brave patriots who stood in the breach when the defense of liberty demanded the ultimate sacrifice.

Perhaps President John F. Kennedy captured the spirit of this holiday best when he said, "A nation reveals itself not only by the men it produces, but also by the men it honors, the men it remembers." By honoring the men and women who have sacrificed their lives to protect our freedom, we ensure that their heroic spirit will live on in this new century.

Indeed, this spirit is alive and well in today's Armed Forces. In the mountains of Bosnia, along the DMZ in Korea, in the rocky Sinai desert, in the skies over Iraq, and the blue waters of the Pacific, our soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen stand watch—day and night—guarding freedom's frontier. Today, as in the past, they bear the burdens that make America's blessings possible for all its citizens.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff and I join every American in honoring those who gave their lives—and all of their tomorrows—so that we might live in peace. We also salute the dedicated men and women of today's Armed Forces who actively preserve this noble legacy.

Gen. Henry H. Shelton, USA

"Pearl Harbor" cast on hand as Stennis Sailors stay Navy

By JO1 David Nagle and JO2 Chris Halsey

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (Navy Wire Service)—In the movie "Pearl Harbor," Col. Jimmy Doolittle (Alec Baldwin) forecast America's place in World War II, "We might have lost the battle, but we're gonna win this war. You know how I know? There's just nothing stronger than the heart of a volunteer."

Twenty-one Sailors aboard USS John C. Stennis (CVN 74) exemplified that tradition May 18 when they volunteered to "Stay Navy" during a reenlistment ceremony. Witnessing the ceremony were "Pearl Harbor" cast members Ben Affleck, Josh Hartnett, and Kate Beckinsale.

CAPT Richard Gallagher, commanding officer of John C. Stennis, officiated at the ceremony on the ship's flight deck, overlooking the USS Arizona Memorial and the battleship USS Missouri (BB 63).

Stennis hosted the movie's world premiere.
